DAWN OF DC

DC'S GREATEST HEROES CONFRONT THEIR WORST NIGHTMARES!

Knight Terrors, DC's terrifying two-month takeover, reaches its chilling conclusion in August! This month, the main Knight Terrors series continues with issues #3 and #4 by writer Joshua Williamson and artists Giuseppe Camuncoli, Stefano Nesi, and Caspar Wijngaard—and the event draws to a close with the Knight Terrors: Night's End one-shot finale from Williamson and artist Howard Porter.

As Batman, Wesley Dodds, and Deadman attempt to protect the waking world from the unsettling horror of the Sleepless Knights, a new foe enters the fray—Damian Wayne! And much more is revealed about Insomnia, the villain at the center of the story, and why he's determined to engulf DC's heroes in their own dark and twisted nightmares. Plus, meet... Dr. Hate? More on that in Knight Terrors: Night's End.

Across DC's publishing line, all of the 20 Knight Terrors two-issue miniseries conclude this month—including Dick Grayson's run-in with murder (and he's the murderer!) in Knight Terrors: Nightwing #2, Ivy being stuck in suburban hell in Knight Terrors: Poison Ivy #2, the Man of Steel and Supergirl teaming up in the Nightmare Realm in Knight Terrors: Superman #2, and Diana and the Justice League Dark facing their fears in Knight Terrors: Wonder Woman #2!

Dodge is the speedster metahuman in the secret organization called the Vigil. Her alias is likely to be a woman who goes by the name Dinah Kom. All files connected to this name have been erased. The only information left that was pieced together by Checkmate is that Dodge has a condition that places an extraordinary amount of fast-twitch muscle fiber in her body. Her suit allows her to control the fibers to move at the speed of thought. The multiversal and space-time repercussions of this are to be discussed in the next transmission.

The time has come. Edward Nashton's long, painful psychological journey and downward spiral have finally brought him to the point where he is ready to take direct action against the corrupt of Gotham. Embittered and abandoned and believing the world is aligned against him, he's reached the time to lash out. His extensive research and clandestine operations have left him with a deeper knowledge of the city's web of criminality than anyone in Gotham. And now he knows exactly which targets to strike and when.

As Edward finally dons the mask of the Riddler, the series ends right before the start of his first murderous attack, shown in the opening scene of Matt Reeves's film The Batman. Actor Paul Dano brought this character to life onscreen, and now he completes Edward's arc with this groundbreaking prequel. Together with renowned European artist Stevan Subic, Dano has crafted a disturbing and emotional tale, filling out the backstory of one of the most unique and terrifying villains faced by any version of the Dark Knight.

But for how long?

Nothing they've ever faced has prepared them for an onslaught of this magnitude. Nothing they've ever seen can match the scale of the tragedy and terror that have been unleashed. As heroes and villains, gods and monsters are wiped out, only one question remains: What happens to the World's Greatest Heroes if the world ends? A mystery over a year in the making takes shape. A new villain who's been hounding Tim from afar decides to take things up close and personal, putting Bernard and everyone else Tim cares about in peril, and things go from bad to worse for the world's oldest and canonically tallest Robin (no, I will not be fact-checking that). All that as Tim finally carves out a corner of Gotham City just for himself and sets up shop in his very own...murder-shack boat? Fan-favorite writer Meghan Fitzmartin teams up with beloved Harley Quinn artist Riley Rossmo to define the next chapter in Tim's life.

When Virgil Hawkins revealed his secret identity as Static to his girlfriend, Daisy, he thought that was going to make their relationship a lot easier. But Daisy is tired of all the super-heroics interrupting their date nights on a regular basis. Now, just as Virgil is about to invite her to the big Dakota music festival for her birthday, she's calling it quits and breaking up with him.

Determined to distract his best friend, Virgil's buddy Richie Foley (also known as the superhero Gear) convinces him that they should use the tickets themselves. When they run into Raquel Ervin and Isadora Wellington—who each have secret identities of their own—what follows is a night that nobody was ready for: a blackout, some super-villains, and a rapper in disguise are just the start. And even worse, there's Daisy with a new guy...
